St Patricks Day in Dublin with a Different Perspective

Follow in the Footsteps of St Patrick with The Merrion's Walking Tour of Dublin

January 2014 – Every year, on 17th March, Ireland turns green for St Patrick's Day. Nowhere more so than in Dublin – and at The Merrion Hotel. This year The Merrion are offering two packages, specially designed for guests to the city to enjoy the very best of the celebrations – 'The Full Shamrock' and 'The Merrion Shamrock'!

'The Full Shamrock' is available from March 15 – 18 and includes two night's accommodation in a Standard room in The Garden Wing, full Irish breakfast each morning, The Merrion's signature Black Velvet cocktail on arrival, one Grandstand ticket per person for the St. Patrick's Day Parade, together with a picnic box to keep those hunger pangs at bay.

And just in case you can't make it for the Parade on 17th, 'The Merrion Shamrock' is available throughout the month of March – combining a deeply comfortable overnight stay in a Standard room with a Black Velvet cocktail on arrival, and a private three-hour 'In The Footsteps of St Patrick' walking tour of Dublin created by Irish author and historian Pat Liddy.

Pat and his team are Dublin experts, who will lead guests of The Merrion through the city's winding streets, unveiling hidden gems and historical sites, including the two great medieval cathedrals of St Patrick's and Christ Church. The tour will bring Dublin to life with tales of architecture, history and its most renowned residents - there is no better way to discover Dublin.

Created from four Grade 1 Listed townhouses in the heart of Georgian Dublin, The Merrion is perfectly placed for catching the best of the celebrations, with the opportunity to relax and unwind at the same time.
